lit 300 candles as we did this morning, we should still be unable to single out a Chinese or a Soviet soldier. Sometimes, to win more readers, Saigon papers run reports like this: we have just killed a fat man, maybe a Red Chinese adviser. Maybe! Next, in the provinces, in Kien Hoa for example, we have cut down another man, maybe a Russian. Everything is qualified by a "maybe" and in the end it is just "none". On the other hand, one does not know how many American soldiers can be found in the South Vietnam Liberation and Hanoi prisons.

As far as the Fatherland is concerned, we must honestly say that North Vietnam is fighting for the Fatherland while we are fighting for the dollar, for positions. Not a few generals and congressmen have brought shame on the entire country because they have travelled abroad only to traffic in girlie calendars and gams. And most recently four bags full of money was found at Tan Son Nhat, in the light of such facts, what would you say, patriotism or sell-out?

JOURNAL FOR CONTEMPORARY ASIA

Index to Volume I

Vol. I. No.1:

Gabriel Kolko, War Crimes and the Nature of the Vietnam War
Erich H. Jacoby, Revolution and Intervention
Renato Constantino, The Mis-Education of the Filipino
Peter Bell & Stephen Resnick, The Contradiction of Post-War Development in Southeast Asia
Malcolm Caldwell, The Role of the Peasantry in the Revolution
Peter Limqueco, Interview with Prince Souphanouvong

Documents:

Political Programme of the Neo Lao Haksat

Statement by the Central Committee of the Lao Patriotic Front on a Political Settlement of the Lao Problem, March, 1970

Third Message to the Nation by Samdech Norodom Sihanouk, Head of State of Cambodia, April 20, 1970

Joint Declaration of the Summit Conference of the Indo-Chinese Peoples, April 25, 1970

Speech by Le Phoung at a press conference held on the 5th June, on the occasion of the 1st Anniversary of the P.R.G.

Vol.I, No.2:

Jan Pluvier, Indonesia before the Holocaust
Teodor Shanin, Class and Revolution
Ronald A. Witton, Ideology and Utopia in Development
W.F. Wertheim, Suharto and the Untung Coup — The Missing Link
Angel D. Baking, Revolution as a Career

Reviews:

Keith Buchanan, The Nature of Reality — Some Guide-books for a Guerrilla World

Alec Gordon, Economics in North Vietnam

Special Supplement: Peter Weiss,

Documents:

PRG Elaborates a Number of Points in the 10-Point Overall Solution
Political Programme of the National United Front of Kampuchea

Speech by U Nu before the Overseas Press Club, New York, on 10th September, 1969.

Statement by the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Indonesia

Vol.I, No.3:

Malcolm Caldwell, Oil and Imperialism in East Asia
Noam Chomsky, The United States and Laos
Hamza Alavi, The Crisis of Nationalities and the State of Pakistan
Tamara Deutscher, What Next in Ceylon?
Franz Schurmann, The Waning of the American Empire

Reviews:

Christopher Collingwood, Reflections on Myrdal and Underdevelopment
Keith Buchanan, The American Way of Death: Genocide in Indochina
Malcolm Caldwell, At War with Asia
Peter Limqueco, Laos: War and Revolution

Documents:

Most Important Facts about U.S. intervention in Cambodia

Political Detainees in Singapore

U.S. Puppet War Crimes in South Vietnam since Nixon's Inauguration

Reality of the NUFC and its armed forces in Cambodia

Vol.I, no.4:

Renato Constantino, Veneration without Understanding – A Critique of Jose Rizal
Bruce McFarlane, Economic Policy and Economic Growth in China
Gabriel Kolko, Vietnam: The Illusion of Withdrawal
E.L. Wheelwright, Radical or Bourgeois Economics?
Vincent K. Pollard, South East Asian Regionalism – Containment, Counter-insurgency and the Nixon Doctrine
Wayne O'Neil, Thailand: America's Troubled Ally

Reviews:

Frederick Clairmonte, The Transformation of the Chinese Earth

Christopher Collingwood, China Past and Present

John Cowley, British Involvement in Vietnam

Jonathan Fast, The Making of a Filipino

Erich H. Jacoby, Russia, China and the West

Documents:

"Nixon Doctrine will surely Fail", Nhan Dan Editorial

Seven Point Statement of the Provisional Revolutionary Government of South Vietnam

Political Repression in the Philippines and Ceylon